Nymble is backed by Tier-1 VCs . These include Accel Partners, Waterbridge Ventures and a clutch of ambitious founders including Binny Bansal (Flipkart) , Samay Kohli (Grey Orange Robotics)

What can I expect from this role?

As a Commis Chef & Kitchen Assistant, you will mainly be involved in developing exciting new recipes that will be programmed onto our cooking robot - Nymble. Additionally, we also expect you to help our customer success team during deployments with meal kit preparation, prototype cleaning, and spice loading. Don't worry, you're not just going to be an extra pair of the hands-on board! You get to be one of the earliest members in shaping our story and get a chance to be part of a fast-growth startup that's looking to change the way food is cooked globally.

What will my work responsibilities look like if I join Nymble?

In this role, you'll spend your time working on refining the following aspects of our product

1. Your primary responsibility will be to assist the kitchen operations team in recipe testing.
2. You will be responsible for procuring ingredients for recipe testing.
3. You will be responsible for prepping of ingredients for recipe testing
4. You will be responsible for cleaning up after every recipe session, and maintaining the 'sanctity' of the kitchen.
5. You will be responsible for taking recipe notes in written, video, and image formats.
6. You will load ingredients, load and unload spice pods, and get Julia ready to cook recipes.
7. You will also be involved in helping fix recipe issues that come up during user trials and implement micro changes.

Requirements

Degree in Food Sciences/Culinary Arts/Relevant work experience.

Have at least 1 year of experience working in a kitchen. Freshers also can apply.

Understand the basic science of cooking and are comfortable with tech gadgets inside the kitchen.

Can adapt recipes in such a way that they can be cooked in non-traditional ways such as one-pot cooking.

Has basic computer knowledge.

Who is the right fit for this role?

The ideal candidate for this role is someone who is comfortable working in a small kitchen, and has the zeal to learn and adapt. Someone who likes to think out of the box with respect to food. And most importantly ready to do any work in a kitchen. They should be able to absorb a ton of information thrown at them.
